Columbus Firm Issues Ultimatum in Dispute with CIO Smelters.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14 — The American Zinc Oxide Co. told striking employes today they would be cut off the payroll if they failed to return to work by tomorrow

Rumors were similar to a peace wave which swept Nanking a month ago when Communist troops were attacking Suchow on the approaches to Nanking At that time informed sources said Chiang warned members of his government that such talk was treason

BERLE CALLED TO TESTIFY IN RED SPY PROBE

Former Assistant Secretary of State Summoned by Grand Jury.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 14—A surprise woman witness refused to tell congressional spy investigators today whether she is or has been a communist or knows any of the witnesses who have testified at previous hearings. She is Marian Bachrach, 50, New York City, who identified herself as a writer in the national office of the Communist party for the last few years.

• • •

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec 14—Adolf A Berle Jr former assistant secretary of state, was summoned to appear before the espionage-probing federal grand jury today a justice department spokesman said.

Berle testified several months ago in the same investigation before a subcommittee of the house un-American activities committee.

Whittaker Chambers, a key figure in the inquiry, has stated that he told Berle in 1939 about alleged Communist infiltration of the state department.

The "pumpkin papers" disclosed by Chambers were put on tap yesterday for examination by the jury or the FBI in Washington whenever needed after a day of legal skirmishes and angry disputes at the federal building

The compromise was reached late yesterday with the aid of a federal judge after hours of controversy between representatives of the department of justice and the house committee on un-American activities.

The films of government documents, allegedly stolen for Russian agents a decade ago, were marked in evidence for the spy-hunting grand jury and were to be made available to the FBI in the capital today for examination

The films meanwhile remained in the custody of Rep Richard M Nixon (R-Calif), a member of the congressional committee, who brought them up from Washington yesterday and showed them to the grand jury

"Very Important" Witness Called

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec 14—Congressional spy probers called "a very important" witness today as they pondered a new move to invoke lie detector tests

Mystery cloaked the latest proceedings of the house un-American activities committee

But it was obvious the committee hoped for a major break before the special federal grand jury now sitting in New York ends its work Thursday.

The grand jury also is digging into Red activities in this country in the late 1930s, the period when Whittaker Chambers, confessed ex-Communist said he was receiving secret government information for relay to Moscow

Without explanation, the committee called off an "emergency meeting," tentatively set for last night and re-scheduled it for this morning (10 30 EST).

• • •

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Dec 14—Ex-Communist Whittaker Chambers was expected today to say yes if house investigators propose a lie detector test for principles in the Red spy case

There was no indication whether Alger Hiss, the former state department official accused by Chambers of stealing government secrets for Russia, would go along.

When the question of a lie detector test first was raised in August, Chambers, self-styled Communist spy courier, agreed to take part Hiss declined then on grounds lie detectors were not reliable

Acting Chairman Karl E Mundt, (R), of South Dakota, said the house un-American activities committee is considering asking both men again if they will agree to the tests He said the committee may also ask to use the instrument on Hiss' brother, Donald, another former state department aide, and other witnesses "whose names we cannot give out at the moment.

"The people involved in this case do not have to fear the test as long as they are innocent said Rep Mundt He said he understands that the lie detector never has "convicted" an innocent person.

Kissing Jap Finance Minister Resigns

By JOHN RICH
International News Correspondent

TOKYO Dec 14—Sanzoru Izumiyama Japan's amorous finance minister and precipitated a government crisis by trying to kiss two women legislators resigned today from both the cabinet and his seat in the diet parliament.

He also went on the wagon "for at least one day"

At his home where he was nursing a beauty of a hangover, Izumiyama proclaimed

"I am not going to drink another drop of whisky or wine for at least one day"

• • •

THEN HE HASTENED to add "However, I assure you I am not becoming a premanent teetotaler"

Izumiyama's public lovemaking caused Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida to summon his cabinet into an emergency session at dawn

At this extraordinary meeting the government heads accepted Izumiyama's proffered resignation as finance minister He was declared guilty of "conduct unbecoming a cabinet office"

Izumiyama his romantic impulses rising to the surface after imbibing that "one too many" tried to seize and kiss the two women representatives Hattie Yamashita, Democrat, and Tomi Matsuo, Socialist

The consequent uproar delayed passage of a supplementary budget bill

When comparative quiet was restored, Miss Yamashita arose on the floor of the diet and solemnly accused Izumiyama of having dragged her from a finance committee meeting into the lobby.

• • •

SHE DECLARED indignantly "He attempted to engage in an insulting act, saying

"'I love you and I don't care what happens to the wage bill'"

To a Japanese woman a kiss, by tradition, is a highly insulting procedure

Socialist Miss Matsuo, not quite so attached to ancient Japanese tradition, took direct action in the western manner—when Izumiyama attempted to force her into an osculatory display

Protesting to the secretary of the cabinet, Miss Matsuo testified

"I slapped him on the cheek "And if you don't believe me, examine the marks I left"

COUNCIL ALSO VOTES TO SET TIME ZONES

Appropriation of $29,000 Is Adopted To Pay for 450 New Parking Devices.

City council acted last night to establish the locations of one and two-hour parking zones for the new meters to be installed in the Marion business district and adjoining streets

Establishment of the parking time zones follows awarding of a contract by the city to a Canton firm for the purchase of approximately 450 new parking meters in a move to increase the annual city parking revenue.

The resolution setting up the time zones was accompanied by an ordinance appropriating $29,000 from the city parking meter fund to pay for the new meters.

Considerable discussion arose concerning the use of the straight hour or two hours as under the five cent meter

Hours Unchanged

Hours during which meters should be in effect likewise came up for discussion and culminated with a vote by council to maintain the present operating schedule which calls for meter use from 8 a m to 6 p m Monday through Thursday and until 9 p. m. Friday and Saturday Meters are not in effect Sundays or legal holidays.

One hour parking was established in the following locations:

Uncapher, city safety-service director who indicated that he wanted council action to establish the zones in order that the proper number of one and two-hour meters be specified to the supplying firm. Vote approving the resolution was unanimous. The motion, by C. R. Pennisten that the present hours be maintained was contested however when it came for a vote, being adopted by a bare majority 5-3. Councilman Harold Smith, First ward, James C Jenkins, Second ward, and Herman L. Rinehart, Third ward, dissented.

Smoke Control Pays Off in Pittsburgh

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Dec 14—It took a major tragedy to make Pittsburgh appreciate its smoke control program.

The tragedy struck Donora, Pa., a mill town 30 miles south of this city and coke center. Heavy black fog which blanketed the area for five days combined with poisons in the air to snuff out the lives of 20 persons and make hundreds of others ill.

Pittsburgh also had fogs those five days but it was fog washed clean of most dirt and impurities. It was a far cry from the not too distant past when noon and midnight frequently looked the same and motorists kept their headlights on all day.

Reason for Escape

What made the difference was the city's smoke control program. Pittsburgh put an anti-smoke ordinance on the books in 1941. The war and local opposition held up the crusade until October last year. The results in one year have surprised the most pessimistic and softened the most antagonistic.

Indeed the effects of the smoke control program have been such Pittsburgh now regards its once familiar soubriquet of the "Smoky City" as nothing short of libelous.

A pilot who plies the airways over the region reported the only break last winter in the "great smoke bowl" of western Pennsylvania, northern West Virginia and eastern Ohio was over Pittsburgh.

Dr. Sumner B. Ely, superintendent of the Pittsburgh bureau of smoke prevention, says the city has cleaned up more than 60 per cent of the smoke which used to cloud its atmosphere.

The U. S. Weather Bureau reports visibility at downtown Pittsburgh is 6% per cent better than it was before the city began its campaign. More of the days are bright.

Pittsburgh Is Bright Spot

On the gray days following the Donora smog the Monongahela Valley was shrouded in a dirty mixture of fog and smoke. But Pittsburgh offered relief.

James S. Lee, superintendent of the Charleroi-Monessen district which cared for many of the Donora victims, said those came to Pittsburgh for oxygen. He declared:

"It was like coming from an island from a sea of smog as I reached Pleasant Hills (east) from Pittsburgh."

The first question after the Donora disaster was: "Could it happen here?" Dr. Ely says no.

He explained

"In the first place we do not have stacks smelting zinc ore. I suppose we assume that sulphur was the cause. It is true that coal contains sulphur and in burning gives off sulphur dioxide but the sulphur in the average coal is about one per cent only, too small to do damage, especially as the burning is scattered over the large area of the whole of Pittsburgh and not confined to a very small radius as in Donora."

"We have cleaned up more than 60 per cent of the smoke which used to exist in Pittsburgh's atmosphere. Condensation nuclei of this type are very much less. This means dirt in the fogs which might well carry infections or poisons of one kind or another."

Health Benefits Evident

Pittsburgh has reaped benefits from a health standpoint as the result of smoke control.

Dr. Hope Alexander, city health director, reports:

"We have had quite a drop in the numoer of persons suffering upper respiratory diseases and considerably less pneumonia since the smoke ordinances went into full operation."

Sinus sufferers also note the difference.

PETRILLO RECORDING BAN TO END TODAY

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec 14—Members of James C Petrillo's American Federation of Musicians will end their 11½ month recording ban this afternoon

The signing of a new five-year contract between the union and the phonograph record companies will be followed immediately by the first recording sessions since Jan 1 for the AFL instrumentalists.

The formality will put into effect an agreement reached last October but held in abevance pending a government okay on the legality of a union welfare fund financed by royalties on records

The government gave its blessings last night Attorney General Tom C. Clark and Solicitor William S Tyson of the labor department said the welfare fund, to be administered by an impartial trustee, was legal under the Taft-Hartley act.

Judges Resume Study Of Conservancy District

The judges took the case under advisement at 3:20 p. m yesterday and discussed it briefly before adjourning until 9.30 a. m. today

Testimony for and against the proposed 15-county flood control project lasted 16 days and came from 77 witnesses.

Before the case went to the judges, prosecutors of eight counties asked that their counties be excluded if the conservancy district is established. The prosecutors were from Allen, Van Wert, Hardin, Mercer, Hancock, Paulding, Fulton and Williams counties.

Two Places Burglarized In Upper Sandusky

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Dec. 14—Burglars who entered the offices of the U. S. Commission Co. and the Stephan Lumber yard here over the weekend received a small return for their efforts, police were told when they were called to inspect the scenes after discovery of the thefts Monday. Only a small amount of change had been left in petty cash drawers at both offices and the total take probably did not exceed $5, police said

Entry was gained by forcing a rear window at the Commission Co. and a door lock was apparently picked at the lumber yard. Policemen John Fritiche and Calvin Swartz and Deputy Sheriff Karl Stansbery are investigating.

types of meters available Officials and maintenance men in other cities where different types of meters were in use were interviewed as to service given by the meters in use there

Reports he said, were unfavorable on the penny meter and likewise on the combination penny and nickel meter The penny meter in addition to requiring more frequent emptying of coins and handling of five times as many coins, has given service trouble in several communities. The combination meter likewise is blame to give more mechanical trouble than the straight five cent meter, it was learned by city officials.

Cost of future maintenance and ease with which they may be serviced were factors leading to the recommendations made on the selection of a meter type to be used here, the mayor reported. Officials relied largely on the advice of Earl Fichtner, city parking meter serviceman, in making their decision, he added

Council also acted last night to authorize the city engineer to proceed with the previously scheduled improvement of Fairview street, Hazen street, Harrison street, Hughes avenue and Elk avenue, all located in the section east of Main street and north of Center street. The project comprises construction of sanitary and storm water sewer including manholes and house laterals.

The project was authorized last July and the safety service director is now authorized to contract for the improvement as soon as funds are available. Virtually the whole cost of the project with the exceptions of the intersections paid for by the city is to be assessed by the foot front on the property owners involved. Cost of the project was estimated by Tom Cathers at approximately $81,000 of which the city portion would be $6,449 07.

Other legislation receiving council affirmation included an ordinance authorizing Mr. Uncapher to employ architects to provide needed services in construction of an administration building for the new airport, a resolution adopting the tax rates as set up by the county budget commission for 1949 and two ordinances paving minor claims against the city One was to C Dudley Williams for $29 for a broken sewer and the other to the Avenue Lumber and Supply Co for $28 01 for replacing a broken window caused when a tree limb slipped during city tree removal operations and crashed a window at the Hub Party Store on East Center street

Reject Police Plan

Council also voted down a proposed ordinance establishing the classification of desk sergeant on the local police force The Ordinance proposed a desk man be on duty during all shifts to handle the force during the absence of any of the three captains in charge of the various shifts to insure a smoothly operating chain of command

Chief Marks backed by the safety-service director opposed the move In a letter to council the chief pointed out that the captains are directly responsible to him at all times except when on a day off. At that time a patrolman takes over the captains duty at the selection of the chief and is directly accountable to Chief Marks.

The chief added that a desk man cannot be used for extra duty in case of emergency as he would not be hired to do a patrolman's work, with the result that the flexibility of the force would be lessened. Under the present system the desk job often offers the opportunity of placing a man who had been ill or injured back on duty considerably earlier than would be possible if he had to wait until he could handle regular patrol duties

Chief Marks said in conclusion that he felt at the present time with so few patrolmen on the force, they should not be further divided

PLANE CRASH SCENE VIEWED

Special to The Star

MT GILEAD O Dec 14 - John Joseph Navratil, 36 Wellington farm implement and jeep dealer killed in a plane crash in a fog here yesterday died an accidental death the official verdict of Dr Frank Sweeney Morrow coroner coroner court today

Navratil a native of Medina, an Army Air Forces veteran who had been flying 13 years crashed shortly after 9 a m yesterday while trying to land on a ridge on the high side of a 14 acre wheat field on the W S Ferguson farm three miles northwest of Johnsville in Morrow county

Navratil was enroute from Wellington to Columbus when he crashed in a fog which reduced visability on the ground to only a few feet in the area where he crashed His Cessna 140 two place cabin monoplane was demolished in the crash The Civil Aeronautics inspection certificate found in the plane was dated July 3 1948, indicating the plane was in good condition at the time of the crash W S Ferguson, last man to hear the planes motor before the fatal crash said the motor sounded "good" just seconds before he heard the crash Ferguson and his son Richard were the first to reach the plane after the crash They said the impact of the crash of the metal plane into the ground had sheared off the top of Navratil's head Mr Ferguson removed Navratil's body from the plane and rain soaked wheatfield on a tractor drawn sled on the orders of Morrow county sheriff Tom England after the coroner had okayed movement of the body

Although Navratil had been an Army Air Force instructor during the war and was known to have held a pilots license for the past 13 years no trace of his pilot license was found on his person or in the wrecked plane or on the ground surrounding it Sheriff England said

Civil Aeronautics inspectors from Mansfield arrived on the crash scene before noon yesterday and were conducting an intensive investigation of causes of the crash A CAA spokesman told news men he believed Navratil had started out his plane when he released his flying speed in trying to land and might possibly have spun into the ground in the dense fog An up to date radio license for the plane's radio was found in the ill fated ship by Sheriff England Navratil was reported as having radioed the tower at Mansfield airport ten minutes before he crashed. The crash scene is only 11 air miles south of Mansfield

Navratil is survived by his father and mother Mr and Mrs. James Navratil of Medina, his wife Ruth and two children Nancy Ann, 4½ and John Robert, 2 five sisters and two brothers Navratil's body was taken from the wrecked plane to the Craven Funeral Home in Mt. Gilead pending completion of funeral arrangements by the family.

This is his explanation of what he says is one of the most outstanding and unique Christmas projects [illegible] state of Ohio It will be held each evening starting tonight until Dec 23 at the Home located at the west edge of Galion

During that period, various choral and musical groups of the vicinity will appear on a program at the Home which will go over an outlets, enabling the public within a radius of several miles to hear the music It is expected that some seven [illegible] hundred musicians will be heard on the schedule, as groups are composed of 20 to 70 members They will appear on an enclosed platform which is being constructed on the two-acre lot in front of the Home

An impressive setting for the musical background is formed by the nativity scene which has been placed on the lot adjacent to the platform

Not only the 62 children who live at the Home will be given the privilege of hearing the program each evening but all citizens of the community and neighboring towns are urged to come out to the Home to hear and see the performance Both the Galion police department and the Crawford County Sheriff are cooperating in handling traffic Cars may park along the highway and in case the ground is frozen enough there will be parking space on the lot near the platform

Recordings will be made of the programs and parts of them will be broadcast Sunday afternoon Dec. 19, and the following Sunday afternoon, Dec. 26

To supplement the music by the choral groups some of the pastors of the churches will speak and on the night of Dec 22, Mrs Ralph Spaid of the Crawford County Child Welfare staff, will tell the Christmas story

While it was impossible to contact all choirs and musical groups of the community to take part in the project Mr Adams said that in event any others wish to participate, a place on the schedule will be provided Many of the choirs have been in rehearsal for weeks on their programs. Some will be robed and some will have processionals, Mr Adams said

Irish Edge Orange Of Delaware, 52-51

The Marion St. Mary basketball squad brought its season average up to .500 last night by nosing out Orange High school at Delaware, 52-51. The Irish chalked up their second victory in a hard fought game that saw St. Mary forward Jim Cusick and Ted Jaycox, Orange forward, foul out in the final period.

St. Mary's victory was a team win. All five starters sunk their share of points. Bill Merchant led the locals for the fourth time in a row by dropping 18 points and Jim Cusick was second with 14. Bill Maloney racked up nine, Ed Moloney five, Corky Cusick, four, and Tom Rizzo two.

On the other hand, all but three of the Orange points were scored by forwards Roy John and Ted Jaycox. The Trojans used a short pivot type offense with the Orangemen feeding the ball to either John or Jaycox. John was the night's high man with 27 tallies.

The contest was a see-saw affair all the way. After three close quarters the scoring pace stepped up in the final period. With a one point lead the Irish stalled away the closing minute and waited for the gun for the victory. In the fourth-quarter bucket brigade Bill Merchant led with eight points, Bill Moloney was second with four, and Cork Cusick third with two.

Bill Moloney did a good job on rebounds and Ed Moloney turned in an outstanding performance at guard. He allowed his wards exactly no points.

The St. Mary JayVees added their share of excitement by walloping the Orange junior varsity, 41-33, in an overtime contest. The young Irish paced by Tom Rizzo outscored the home team eight to nothing in the overtime. Jasper Tinnerello took St. Mary scoring honors with nine and Bowersmith led the Orangemen with 12.

HARDING INVADES SHELBY TONIGHT

Tonight the Harding cagers will strive for their second victory when they take to the road in quest of a win over highly rated Shelby. The Shelby squad has chalked up three victories and lost one, to Mansfield in overtime.

The Cleveland Plain Dealer in a story last Sunday picked Shelby to be victor in its league. In the team's first loop contest tonight's hosts squeezed by Bucyrus, 41-40. Harding Coach Kenny Somerlot said it looks like his boys are in for a rough evening. He pointed out, however, that the Shelby wins have been against weaker competition.

Dick Wolfe, Harding guard, will start tonight, Somerlot said. Wolfe was injured in the Galion game Dec. 7. Other starters will be Merle Daum and Bill Buckingham at forward, Jack Daum at center, and the other guard will be Dick Thomas. If the Harding men turn from a pressing game to more deliberate play Dick Clark will see action for his height and rebound work.

Coach Somerlot also reported that Tom Taylor, who suffered a blood clot in his leg during the football season, has been practicing shooting and will be back in the lineup after Christmas.

Bee Gee Coach May Move to Toledo School

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Dec. 14—Bowling Green university's football coach, Bob Whittaker, may accept the grid coaching job at Toledo Devilbiss High school, the Toledo Times said last night.

Whittaker coached Bowling Green to its first unbeaten season in history this fall. The Times quoted him as saying he had "reached the top as far as salary was concerned at Bowling Green, and if nothing can be arranged to better my position, I am interested in moving."

Dan Sharpe resigned as Devilbiss coach 10 days ago. The high school job is considered one of the best prep jobs in Ohio.

BO TO SPEAK

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Dec. 14 — Alvin (Bo) McMillin, coach of the Detroit Lions of the National football league and former mentor at the University of Indiana, will speak at the John Carroll university football banquet Jan. 26.

WELCOMES SPARTANS. Kenneth (Tug) Wilson (right), commissioner of the Western conference, congratulates Ralph Young (second from right), athletic director of Michigan State college, in Chicago after the school was voted membership into the conference. Looking on are H. O. (Fritz) Crisler (left), University of Michigan athletic director, and Dean Lloyd C. Emmons, Michigan State faculty representative.

CENTRAL, VERNON IN TIE FOR LOOP LEAD

Following the first two weeks of play in the Tri-City league, Central and Vernon Junior High schools are on top in the standings. Both of these local Junior squads have won two games, Central against Galion and Upper Sandusky, and Vernon against Bucyrus and the local Edison quintet. Tied for third place in the loop are Galion and Upper Sandusky, both teams winning one and losing one. The Bucyrus and Edison Junior squads are in the league cellar, each having lost both of their loop starts.

This week will be a crucial one for all schools in the league as each five comes up against the team it is tied with. Heading the list Central meets Vernon on the Bulldogs' court in a night game while Galion goes to Upper Sandusky in the afternoon. The cellar-dwellers, Bucyrus and Edison will meet on the Edison hardwoods in an afternoon tilt also. All of the games will be played on Thursday.

Sam First Bags First Ohio Deer

By The United Press

CONNEAUT, O., Dec. 14 — Sam First lived up to his name again Monday as the Ohio deer season opened in 13 north-eastern Ohio counties.

Forty minutes after the season opened at 9 a. m., First bagged a 120-pound buck in nearby Lakeville. Last year First bagged one two hours after the season opened within 300 yards of the spot where he got his buck yesterday.

Grid Oddities? Howell Lists A Couple Here

By FRITZ HOWELL
Ohio Associated Press Sports Editor

COLUMBUS, Dec. 15—Football oddities? We have 'em!

For instance: Newport, Ky., was playing Springfield Central Catholic high school one Sunday afternoon this fall. The score, with eight (count 'em—eight) seconds to play, was 7-7.

Newport coach Al Howe sent in his spot runner, Francis Welmer. The speedster rolled around end for 48 yards and a touchdown, sending Newport into a 13-7 lead.

The Kentuckians kicked off, and Springfield ran the ball out of bounds. Two seconds left to play, as the clock stopped.

Time came in with the snap of the ball, Don Mabra faded back and threw. Bill Laub gathered the ball in on the 50 and went the rest of the way. Final score 13-13—but two touchdowns in the final eight seconds must be the record. Anyway, they're still mumbling about it over Clark county way.

* * *

And over at Toronto, Coach John C. Zimmerman believes his boys set another record during the recent campaign.

The Toronto team allowed the opposition an average of only 62 yards per contest, but that isn't where the record comes in.

The mark about which they're boasting is that the Raiders racked up 16 points on safeties—eight of 'em—during the season. Toronto scored three in one game, two in another, and "singles" in three.

Harold Krivicki, outstanding tackle, was responsible for four of the safeties and rated an assist on the others. Mr. Zimmerman, by the way, would like to know if any of you have heard of a team scoring more than eight safeties in a season, or three in a game.

VFW, BIRD-M'GINNIS, GI POST WIN GAMES

VFW kept first place in the Marion County Veterans league firmly in its grasp by winning its fourth straight game, 44-36, over Company C last night at the Marion Armory. GI Post came from behind in the last two minutes of play to down Navy Club, 37-34, and Bird-McGinnis stopped Waldo, 46-37.

Led by Lyn Coulter and Dan Reams each with ten points the VFW men outlasted a late Company C rally for its fourth win against no losses. Last year's champs hung up an early lead and Company C trailed by 12 points at halftime.

It was GI Post's first loop victory in the closest contest of the evening. Little forward Spitzer paced the GI Post comeback by dropping in 16 points for the game's high. Ruhl and Reed led the Navy men with ten apiece.

The Williams boys were the big guns in Bird-McGinnis' victory over Waldo. Dick Williams sunk 17 points and his brother, Don, 12. Bill Smith tallied 14 for the Bird-McGinnis men who won their third straight. Their only loss was to first place VFW. On again Jim Ward was the high Waldo man with 12.

YANKEES CONSIDER SANFORD INSURANCE

Buy Brown Pitcher To Stop Indians, Red Sox.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 14—The New York Yankees regard purchase of pitcher Fred Sanford from the St. Louis Browns for $15,000 and three players as a sound risk in the pennant pains of Cleveland, Boston and Detroit.

By swinging the first major American league deal of the winter meetings last night the Yanks have dried up one potential source of help for the pitcher-poor Red Sox. They claim both Cleveland and Detroit also would have snapped up Sanford—just to stop the Yanks from adding strength.

"Now maybe they'll have to make some trades with us," a Yankee spokesman said. "Don't overlook a very important part of the announcement. The Browns say they plan no more major deals. If the others can't help themselves in St. Louis, they may have to come to us. We are anxious to make more trades."

At least one potential Yankee deal, however, was stymied temporarily by the Sanford purchase. That was a Washington-New York swap by which either pitcher Walt Masterson or Early Wynn would go to New York for cash and pitcher Dick Starr.

Starr was one of three men who went to the Browns. The others were pitcher Red Embree, a former Cleveland Indian, and catcher Sherm Lollar, another ex-Indian farmhand. In return the Yanks get Sanford and catcher Roy Partee who is bound for the minors.

The Yankee Brown deal hung fire for two days because St. Louis insisted on Starr. George Weiss, New York general manager, wanted to hold out Starr because Washington wanted the same man. He thought he could use him in that trade. It is understood pitcher Frank Hiller was offered instead of Starr but the Brownies refused.

The Philadelphia Athletics signed veteran outfielder Wally Moses, recently made a free agent by the Boston Red Sox, as a pinchhitter. The A's also signed Jimmy Dykes, former Athletic star and manager of the Chicago White Sox, as a coach.

MANSFIELD, O., Dec. 14—The Ohio Amateur golf championship will be decided over Westbrook Country club course here July 11-16, tournament chairman Dale Rose announced today.

Herold Paddock, Cleveland, winner last year in a play-off with Maurice McCarthy of Cincinnati, will be on hand to defend the title.

Only players with handicaps of six or less will be eligible for the event, which gets under way with a two-day, 36-hole qualifier and follows with match play for the top 63 and defending champion Paddock.

Indians Get Vernon, Wynn in Nat Deal

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 14—The world champion Cleveland Indians, a sportsman at heart, traded Hal Gregg, Eddie Robinson and Dan Bankhead pitchers to Washington for first baseman Mickey Vernon, pitcher Early Wynn.

The senators obtained pitchers Ed Klieman and Joe Haynes in the straight player deal. Klieman was used exclusively in relief roles last season. The Indians recently obtained Haynes, 31 year old veteran from the Chicago White Sox for rookie catcher Joe Tipton.

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Indians said the deal was completed after a long night of early morning conference between Bill Veeck Cleveland president and Calvin Griffith vice president of the Senators.

MIAMI DOMINATES ALL-STATE ELEVEN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14—Three of Ohio's Catholic colleges looked like little Notre Dames today.

The terrific trio — Dayton, Xavier and John Carroll—put up six of the 11 places on the all-Ohio college football team, each placing two on the all-star aggregation.

Miami's rampaging Redskins dominated the selections for the second straight year, however, the Oxford crew annexing three of the first team berths. Other top spots went to hot-shots from Bowling Green and Cincinnati universities.

Carl Taseff, John Carroll's sophomore fullback, led the balloting of coaches, officials and sports writers in the state-wide poll and took over the first team captaincy.

The team

Vince Defranco, Xavier, end; William Lange, Dayton, tackle; Judwhelan, John Carroll, guard; Steve O'Dea, Xavier, center; John Vilkoski, Cincinnati, guard; John Weaver, Miami, tackle; Vernon Dunham, Bowling Green, end; Mel Olix, Miami, quarterback; Arthur Bok, Dayton and Paul Shoults, Miami, halfbacks; and Carl Taseff, John Carroll, fullback.

COLUMBUS BOUT SET

COLUMBUS, Dec. 14 — Verne Mitchell, Detroit 200-pounder, "Alabama Kid" of Columbus in a signed today to meet the 10-round bout here the afternoon of New Year's Day. The 21-year-old Detroiter met champion Joe Louis in an exhibition in the Motor City recently.

UCLA COACHING STAFF RESIGNS EN MASSE

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 14 — The University of California at Los Angeles is looking for a new set of football coaches today following the en masse resignation of the entire Bruin varsity coaching staff.

Head Coach Bert La Bruceherie who in his four seasons at UCLA had 23 wins and 16 losses; Line Coach W. P. (Dutch) Fehring, End Coach Shelby Calhoun and Backfield Coach Ned Mathews turned in their unexpired contracts yesterday. La Bruceheries' pact had two more years to run. This year the Bruins won three, lost seven.

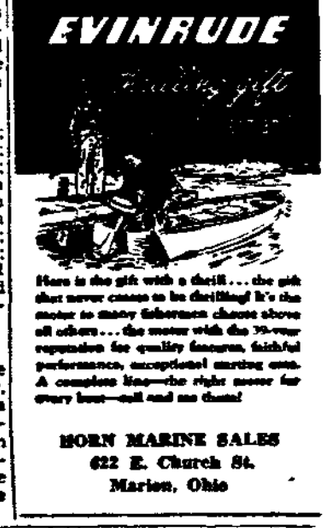
The university publicist, Vic Kelley, said athletic director Wilbur Johns would begin immediately a search for replacements. La Bruceherie said he had no immediate future plans.

A couple of months ago the rumor factory had Paul Brown, coach of the professional Cleveland Browns and formerly of Ohio State, headed for a return to collegiate coaching at UCLA but Johns said at the time it was only rumor.

Others already mentioned by sports writers include pro coaches Clark Shaughnessy of the Los Angeles Rams and Jimmy Phelan of the Los Angeles Dons.

There was no comment other than Kelley's from the university about a successor to La Bruceherie.

La Bruceherie's salary was reported to be nearly $12,000 a year.



Here is the gift with a thrill . . . the gift that never ceases to be thrilling! Football in 1948

"Two Platoon Plan' Drew Boos

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — College football had another good year at the gate and some of the fans had a lot of fun booing the "two platoon system."

Army's Cadets received a terrific razzing during their 43-0 rout of Stanford. All Coach Earl Blaik of Army did was play the game according to the rules when he shifted offensive and defensive units.

Sped Up Game

The rules sped up the game under the unlimited substitution setup employed during 1948 but in some games, like the Army-Stanford fray, it made for one-sided football, especially when the underdog was shy of enough talent to use 11 players on defense and another 11 on offense.

Michigan had the best team in the land. The success of the unbeaten Wolverines was a tribute to Bennie Oosterbaan who succeeded Fritz Crisler as coach.

Notre Dame, California, North Carolina and Army also ranked with the top. Notre Dame, however, had its winning streak stopped by an underdog Southern California team, the Trojans gaining a surprising 14-14 deadlock.

Like Michigan, California finished unbeaten and untied and meets Northwestern in the Rose Bowl. Army came up to its final game with a perfect record but Navy, beaten by every rival on its tough schedule, tied injury-riddled Army, 21-21 before 102,500 Philadelphia fans.

BENNIE OOSTERBAAN
Had Top Team

North Carolina, with Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice leading the way, beat everybody but William and Mary. The Indians figured to be outclassed by the Tarheels yet the rivals played a 7-7 tie.

Another major upset was supplied by Pitt, the Panthers handing Penn State its only loss of the season, 7-0.

Doak Walker, selected unanimously to The Associated Press All-America team, won the Heisman Memorial Trophy with Justice second and Chuck Bednarik, Penn's versatile center, third.

When professional football opened its season, six All-America players from 1947 were seen in play-for-pay uniforms. They were Johnny Lujack, Bob Chappius, Bill Swiacki, Steve Suhey, Ray Evans and Paul Cleary. Among other 1947 college stars who played pro ball this fall were Bobby Layne, Charley Cornerly and George Connor.

Pros Continue Fight

The pro loops—the National League and All-America Conference—continued at odds with officials from each circuit continuing to tell the other "how to run his business."

The Cleveland Browns, winning all 14 regular season games, the San Francisco 49ers, Buffalo Bills and Baltimore Colts were the class of the AAC while the Philadelphia Eagles, Chicago Cardinals and Chicago Bears were the best teams in the NL.

The biggest pro crowd turned out in Cleveland where 82,769 fans saw the Browns beat San Francisco, 14-7. They did it later, 31-28, on the coast. Harvey Johnson of the New York Yankees set a new pro record. He ran his extra point kicking string to 77 straight boots.

The game lost one of its highly regarded men when John (Jock) Sutherland, coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers, died in April.

BIG 9 SCHEDULES DRAWN IN MEETING

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO Dec 14 — Western conference officials ended a lighter session after meeting last night by drawing football schedules from 1950 through 1952 and entering Michigan State into competition in 1953

Michigan State accepted as a 10th member earlier will be permitted to play twelve games in all other sports as well as the certified A three-man committee is to investigate the Spartans athletic structure to assure conformity with Big Nine policies

This mere formality may be completed in time for the East Lansing school to be listed in all future schedules drawn up in the conference's 1949 meeting

Michigan State was scheduled in football by Minnesota in 1950 and tentatively by Michigan The Spartans are not listed for any league team in 1951 and 1952 but ample room has been left for inserting them There are 13 open dates in 1950, 18 in 1951, and 20 the following year. Michigan State will meet Michigan in 1949 Next season's schedule was drawn up a year ago

Perhaps significantly, powerful Notre Dame so far remains off the Western conference football schedules in that year 1952, although there is plenty of room and time for the Irish to be added after The apparent grudge shunning of the Notre Dame Big Ten gridiron giant dates to 1950 when Purdue and Iowa are its only conference foes on a committee series while Indiana is a tentative opponent The Northwestern-Notre Dame rivalry, which started in 1889 temporarily ended with the 1948 game

Albi, Nenoff To Join For Tag Team Match

Ali Albi and Steve Nenoff, a pair of shaved-headed, handlebar-mustached wrestlers will combine to tangle with Dutch Schultz and Len Hughes in one of the popular tag team matches at the Armory Thursday night, promoter Les Fishbaugh announced today.

Preceding the two-hour main event, Albi will meet Hughes the Bostonian who was a big attraction here a year ago, in a one-fall 30-minute go and Neloff will meet Schultz in another

Dick Nash and Red McKinnis will launch the program at 8:30 in a 10-minute kid match

GREEN'S, MARTEL, MIDDIES TRIUMPH

A trimmer and two not-so-close ones were on the bill in Independent league play at the YMCA last night Green's Sporting Goods shaked by Home Super Market, 54-53 Martel Elevator took Wilson and Sakel, 62-44, and Midtown Chevrolet walloped Sally Ann Inn 85-24.

Green's had to come from behind for its first win Dick Miller dropped one in with 30 seconds to go for the game winning points. The Green men trailed by eight points at the half and then went ahead in the second half only to fall behind again Both Hutchinson and Miller sparked the Greens attack and big man for Home Super Market was Buckingham

In a cleanly played cage contest Martel led all the way for its win over Wilson and Sakel Only 13 personals were called by officials George Keel and Dwight Ruby Comstock with 23 points and Freet with 15 paced the Martel squad

A terrific passing attack and deadeye shooting accounted for Midtowns 85-24 victory over Sally Ann Inn The Chevrolets sunk 65 per cent of their shots and most of them were made after a series of short passes with the bucket coming from right under the basket

GUAM BEAUTY DIES AFTER SEX ATTACK

By The Associated Press

GUAM Dec 14—Attractive Ruth Farnsworth died today of shock and a beating administered by a sex maniac

Search for the killer—or killers—who kidnaped and raped the 27-year-old San Francisco woman was intensified with discovery of a pair of paratroop boots in the jungle near the spot where she had been left to die

Naval officials said the boots bore possible blood stains, and the name of the owner.

The boots and other evidence are being sent to the FBI in Washington for study, the Navy said.

A missing sandal which authorities hoped would help track down the killer, was found near the scene The strap had been torn off when it was ripped from Miss Farnsworth foot. Her other sandal earlier had been found near an oriental curio shop where she worked nights.

Several men were questioned by investigators but no one was held Rewards for information leading to the girl's attackers were offered by the government and the proprietor of the shop

Miss Farnsworth was kidnaped from the shop Saturday night

She was found unconscious yesterday in a jungle thicket 200 yards away

"But what book? I don't have much time to read, and this year the dart-blamed publishers came out with about 9,000 new titles. Can you imagine anybody in his right mind wading through 9,000 new books? How about helping me again?"

Teller Sentenced For Embezzlement

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Dec 14—Robert Klughart, 41, was given an eight-year sentence and fined $5,000 Monday on conviction of embezzling $16,000 from the Firestone bank in Akron. The bespectacled former teller at the bank was convicted Friday of embezzling the money from the account of James C Ginyard of Akron.

Klughart, the only witness for the defense, maintained he was the victim of two thefts at the bank. He testified someone stole $50,000 from his cage or vault in 1944 and that another $65,000 disappeared later.

He made no statement today when taken before Federal Judge Paul Jones for sentencing. The maximum penalty for the charge was 50 years and a $50,000 fine.

SAYS GERMAN FARMERS ARE NEW ARISTOCRATS

By The United Press

CANANDAIGUA, N Y—Germany's new aristocrats are the farmers, according to Albert Hoefer, New York State 4-H Club agents' leader.

Hoefer spoke here on four months he spent in Germany with a government program to aid in developing and investigating youth programs in the former reich.

"I'd hate to spend five years in the Germany of today," he said. Nothing is rebuilt. There is nothing to build with. Iron, steel, wood is scarce. Needles, pins and thread are unheard of. They are patching the ditches and damning the dams.

"I didn't see a well-dressed or well-fed city person all the time I was in Germany. I didn't have the heart to photograph the youngsters outside my headquarters. They were pitiful. On the other hand country people are surviving very well. They have food. In the cities I saw actual starvation.

INDIANAPOLIS—Uncle Sam is $400 richer but he doesn't know who gave him the money. A branch office of the bureau of internal revenue reported getting an envelope containing the money. There was no name or address with it and no income tax form.

SEEKS REVISION OF ELECTORAL SYSTEM

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Dec 4—The man who claims he is dean of U S electors says the electoral college should be revised to reflect the popular vote for president—or abandoned.

Alfred M. Cohen, 89-year-old Cincinnati attorney, made the statement yesterday as he and 24 other Democrats made official what everyone has known since Nov. 2—that President Truman defeated Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, in Ohio.

The electors cast 25 votes for Mr. Truman for President and 25 votes for Sen. Alben W. Barkley as vice president. The session cost the state $514.10 ($10 apiece for the electors and 10 cents a mile for the distance from their homes to Columbus).

All the parliamentary procedure took four hours and 18 minutes of actual meeting time.

After it was over, Cohen outlined his views on the electoral college to newsmen. The Cincinnati attorney has cast six Democratic electoral votes in the last 36 years. If Franklin D. Roosevelt had carried the state in 1944, Cohen would have made it seven.

Dignified, white-haired Cohen said the electoral college "apparently has outlived its usefulness." (The electoral college elects the president and vice president. The people only vote for the electors, who can vote for anyone they choose, but normally are pledged to some candidate).

Cohen noted Ohio's electoral vote of 25 to 0 for President Truman did not reflect the popular sentiment since the President won the state by only 7,107 votes among 3,000,000.

"Ohio had one electoral vote for each 135,000 people," he added, "while Nevada had one for 20,000."

If the electoral college is continued," he said, "the electors should be chosen in direct ratio to the popular vote. The candidate carrying a state now gets its entire electoral vote.

Annual Dinner Held By Fellowcraft Club

At the annual dinner of the Fellowship club of Marion Lodge No. 70, F. and A. M., held in the Masonic temple Saturday, 54 men were honored for their activities in Masonic work during the past year.

Harry Williams, worshipful master of Marion Lodge No. 70, presided at a special dinner served by the wives of the officers of the lodge. A song was sung for Charles Hahn, after which Master Williams gave a brief talk. Fellowcraft team emblems of merit were presented to Omar Smith, George Perry, Robert Cocherl and Artie Redlinger for outstanding effort and attendance in the Fellowcraft team work. On behalf of the Fellowcraft team Robert Gamble presented the master a pen and pencil.

Dr. A. F. Linscott, president of the Masonic chorus, responded with a brief outline of the activities of the chorus since its organization 10 years ago. During this period seven minstrel shows have been presented, and plans were announced for another show this year. The chorus will sing Thursday at a special meeting of the Knights Templar and also will sing Dec. 27 at the installation of Fred White, newly-elected master of Marion Lodge No. 70. The Masonic chorus now numbers 35 members, and it is hoped it will develop to 60 voices before spring.

Extension Specialist Addresses PTA Council

R. Bruce Tom, extension specialist of the departments of agriculture and home economics and rural sociology, was a guest speaker at a meeting of the PTA council Thursday night at Harding High school. Rev. E. H. Wierth, pastor of the First Evangelical and Reformed church, conducted the devotions.

In his talk Mr. Tom expressed the belief that if the world would take time to play together we would not have time to carry arms. Mrs. Frank M. Knapp, peace service chairman, reported that several families in devastated countries had been adopted by the various PTA units here. In reporting on membership Mrs. Glen Kellogg, chairman, announced that to date 2,294 members have been enrolled.

Completing the program was a group of numbers by the Eastside Mothersingers directed by Mrs. J. Warren Wise. The next meeting will be Jan. 13 when H. E. Hamlin, of the state department of education will serve as moderator for a discussion of the subject, "What About Youth Activities?" Rev. Eldred Johnston, pastor of Central Christian church, will conduct the devotions.

Earl Carroll Estate Sues for $2,000,000

By The Associated Press

SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 14—An agent for Earl Carroll, show producer killed with 42 other persons June 17 in an airplane crash near Mt. Carmel, Pa., has filed suit against the United Airlines for more than $2,000,000.

Attorneys representing Mrs. Jessie I. Schuyler, executrix of the Carroll estate, filed the complaint in federal court yesterday, charging the airline with negligence and claiming damages of $2,012,000.

Beryl Wallace, also killed in the plane crash, was the principal beneficiary of the estate. Terms of the will stated that if Miss Wallace died before she could inherit, her share of the estate, valued at $1,000,000, was to go for the establishment of a cancer clinic.

Mrs. Schuyler, longtime friend of the famous showman, was left half of Carroll's stock holdings.

They're Facing It

MEMBERS of the Coal Mining Institute of America have been warned by one of their own spokesmen, Charles O'Neill, president of the Central Pennsylvania Coal Producers association, to get braced for revival of the 30-hour week proposal in 1949 contract negotiations with United Mine Workers.

"The miners are serious about the proposal," O'Neill warned his associates. "It is something we will have to face."

The proposal has an interesting history. It was thought up in the early thirties as an anti-unemployment measure and came close to getting by congress. In April, 1935, a bill to that effect by Hugo Black of Alabama, who later was to be appointed to the U.S. Supreme Court, passed the U.S. senate. A similar bill did not reach a vote in the house, but the idea of both bills later was included in the fair labor standards act of 1938, which prescribed a 40-hour week as the national standard beginning in 1940.

By that time, unemployment had ceased to be acute. The 40-hour week became a legal instrument for increasing take-home pay under its provision for premium pay for overtime work. Few coal miners, for example, have been held to a standard work week of 40 hours, and none of them would expect to be held to a standard of 30 hours. Instead of representing a shorter work week a 30-hour standard would be only a subterfuge to raise take-home pay through collection of overtime rates—a means of accelerating still further the mechanization of the mining industry. The alternative would be to boost production costs even higher than they are now. That is what the coal industry is facing. It is what all industry will be facing eventually, if the United Mine Workers have their way, because they have become pace-setters for organized labor's demands on management.

Costa Rica's Invasion

UNDER the Act of Chapultepec in March, 1945, the Monroe doctrine became the policy of the American republics. This momentous decision was carried still further by the inter-American treaty of reciprocal assistance signed at Rio de Janeiro in 1947—the treaty that went into effect last Friday.

Costa Rica has appealed for assistance within the terms of the new treaty. It claims it has been invaded by a hostile force from Nicaragua. Nicaragua disclaims responsibility and says the force is composed of Costa Ricans. Costa Rica, in turn, asserts that there are only a few Costa Ricans involved and that the invasion is supported mainly by Communists. It looks as if the first big decision under the new treaty would be a dandy.

But going back to the Monroe doctrine, which has been in effect for 125 years—and remembering Costa Rica's claim that Communists are supporting an invasion of Costa Rican territory—it's worth remembering that the original doctrine was produced, in part, by fear of Russian interference in American affairs. In 1823 it looked as if tsarist Russia might claim California as its reward if it helped Spain re-establish its influence in Latin America.

Time passes. The scene changes. New actors tread the boards. But the plots and schemes on international mischief remain the same. The new world is still subject to the same kind of interference which made it post no trespassing signs a century and a-quarter ago, and the trespassers are still trying to beat the signs.

The Fourth "R"

SCHOOL children and their parents in Twinsburg, if they're lucky, may discover one of the fundamentals of good education as a result of a community controversy that has closed the schools.

The fourth "R" in education stands for restraint. Without it, on the part of pupils, teachers and the adults who support school systems, education is futile; in Twinsburg it has become impossible.

In the absence of restraint, discipline falters. Teachers are unable to maintain the atmosphere of orderly purpose essential for classroom work. Pupils become members of a mob. Factionalism thrives, and when it spreads to parents their attitudes infect the minds of their children. Teachers might as well give up, as they finally did in Twinsburg.

Twinsburg isn't the first community to have school troubles. It won't be the last. The same pitfalls that have made education impossible there exist everywhere. They are avoided only by strong community determination to keep controversy at arm's length; by restraint on the part of all persons concerned.

If Twinsburg is lucky, it will find this out and profit by it. If it isn't lucky—if its quarreling factions continue to put their quarrels ahead of education—then Twinsburg will be owed an apology by the adults who have sacrificed education to their own shortcomings. They will be schooled only in the art of bickering.

Independent Judiciary

By David Lawrence

Owen J. Roberts Emphasizes Vital Point

WASHINGTON

OWEN J. ROBERTS, formerly an associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, has rendered the cause of honest government a significant service by speaking out frankly in favor of the proposal to keep the executive and judicial branches of the government from intermingling their duties and functions.

Nothing contributes more to a loss of confidence in the integrity of the judiciary than for judges to mix in the tasks of the executive. For these are likely to be and often are political in their motivation.

Strangely enough the Constitution, which specifically forbids senators and representatives from holding any office in the executive branch of the government and similarly forbids any official of the executive branch from being a member of congress, has nothing to say about the right of judges to serve as officers of the executive branch of the government.

It would appear that the founding fathers assumed that tact, if not the implications of what they wrote about the separation of executive and legislative offices, would keep presidents from pressing judges into service or keep judges from accepting assignments from a president.

• • •

MR. ROBERTS confesses frankly that he made a mistake himself in accepting the chairmanship of the commission appointed by the President seven years ago to investigate the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. He also says he regrets having taken a place on the German mixed claims commission. He made no reference to the recent proposal of President Truman to send Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow as a temporary ambassador, theoretically at least under the orders of the Chief Executive or his secretary of state. It will be recalled that Justice Jackson served as prosecutor in the Allied tribunals which tried Nazi criminals accused of starting the war or of inhumanity in its conduct. Now he is disqualified from acting on any appeals that may be filed with the supreme court by such accused persons.

The question has also produced discussion in another form because Justice Douglas recently made a speech before the CIO at its national convention which brought a wave of speculation as to the possibility that he may be cherishing political ambitions as a presidential candidate in 1952.

Mr. Roberts would have the country accept a constitutional amendment specifically forbidding any member of the supreme court from being eligible at any time to become president or vice president.

• • •

THE TENDENCY to go to the supreme court for high grade talent in specific situations of a more or less emergency character did not begin in recent years. Presidents for decades past have often pressed into service judges from the highest court of the land to serve on international tribunals. Inasmuch as the questions for decision usually were international rather than domestic, public opinion did not frown on the idea—indeed the appointment of such jurists was regarded as a means of assuring a truly impartial decision.

This was before the days of the World court. Today the need in that direction is not so pronounced and, besides, eminent jurists can be found to handle international disputes without going to the supreme court to draft members for international commissions.

Mr. Roberts in addressing a special committee of the New York City Bar association which is sponsoring some proposals on the subject, said:

"The President in the last war took federal judges and put them in all sorts of administrative jobs, the nature of which would make enemies and create hard feelings. That puts a judge's judicial position in the future in all sorts of jeopardy. If the federal judges have time to do that, then there are too many judges. . . . I believe that was a desperately bad thing for the courts."

• • •

IT SO HAPPENS that recommendations to increase the number of district and court of appeals judges are coming to congress soon because of the congestion of the work of the courts and it would not be surprising if congress legislated at the same time to bar all judges from serving either the executive or legislative branches of the government.

No judge certainly ought to feel at any time so beholden either to the president who appointed him or to any other president as to accept a call to administrative or even quasi-judicial duties subject to the orders of the chief executive. A specific law on the subject would save embarrassments all around. Confidence in the integrity of the courts cannot be maintained if judges become errand boys of a president of the United States.

Aid to Monopoly

By George E. Sokolsky

SO often, those who deal not with realities but in popular slogans produce precisely the opposite of what they intend. Those who objected to the basing point system of pricing goods undoubtedly hoped to lessen the trend toward monopolies. Some of them favored supporting "small business" against "big business." They wanted to increase competition. Certainly the FTC, which has fought the basing point system, and the supreme court, which in the cement case abolished it, had no desire to strengthen already strong producers of goods. They could not and did not declare themselves pro-monopoly, but it worked out that way.

That is exactly what they have accomplished. By preventing manufacturers from absorbing and averaging transportation costs, they abolished uniform pricing and gave to the nearer user of commodities an advantage over the faraway user. Thus large numbers of firms, now geographically displaced, are at a disadvantage and may suffer seriously.

• • •

FOR INSTANCE, take a simple commodity — a chocolate bar manufactured, let us say, in Pennsylvania. Such a bar is sold all over the United States at the same price. That was possible because the transportation costs were absorbed and averaged. Now the price of the bar must be different in each place, depending upon how much it costs to ship it by rail from the manufacturer to the consumer; or, the manufacturer must establish factories all over the country if he can afford it; or he must have a fleet of automobiles, which he himself owns, for self-delivery. He has no way of selling a universally consumed product at a national price without laying himself open to the charge of absorbing the transportation costs.

So the state of Pennsylvania gets smart and advertises as follows:

"A supreme court decision outlawing the historic basing-point system of prices for cement is forcing steel companies to abandon the basing point system on steel as well. It has been predicted that this will mean a great competitive advantage to steel fabricators and steel consumers located close to steel producing centers, and comparable disadvantages to companies far removed from steel centers."

In a word, the state invites firms to abandon their present sites and to move close to Pittsburgh, Bethlehem, Johnston and other steel producing cities, abandoning present locales. Felix Morley, in "Human Events," puts the effects of this change in the method of pricing most correctly when he says:

". . . And anybody possessing any imagination can recognize the undesirability of herding new masses of industrial labor into areas already as overcrowded and beset with social problems as in Pittsburgh.

"Sociologists have roundly condemned the industrialists of an earlier era for the indifference to human values which characterized their concept of free enterprise. What, then, can be said for a federal agency of free enterprise. What, then, can be said for a federal agency which, consciously or unconsciously, works to promote the development of those very slums which enlightened business leadership now seeks to eliminate through industrial dispersion?"

• • •

NEWSPAPERS WILL, in particular, suffer from this supreme court decision handed down by Justice Hugo Black. Most of the newsprint used in the United States is imported from Canada and therefore travels an enormous distance over the United States. Obviously, the distance between Canada and Georgia is greater than to any point in Maine. Hitherto the open newsprint market has had a general price, although in recent years black market prices have been charged. The newsprint industry in Canada is a cartel, controlled as to policy by the Canadian government. Newsprint is the principal Canadian industry, playing a fundamental role in Canada's economy.

Up to now, newsprint was sold on a basing point price absorption and averaging system. It is a scarce and high-priced commodity. The great competitors, before the war, were the Swedes and the Finns. The Canadians have, for years, had the field to themselves and have been in a position to determine prices at their option.

Under the new system, they will obviously sell newsprint to American newspapers F.O.B. the Canadian mills. The price in the United States will vary as transportation costs vary. Many newspapers may find the cost of newsprint prohibitive. Maybe the FTC hopes that some of them drop dead from costs. That would be an excellent way of ending free competition among newspapers.

Checking Malaria

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK—The little elephant shrew has been found to be a new host or carrier for malaria, scientists on an African expedition report.

The finding was made during studies of parasitology in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, southeast corner of French Equatorial Africa, and the northeast corner of the Belgian Congo by the U. S. Naval Medical group of the University of California African Expedition. This program was headed by Commander Trenton Ruebush, and Chief Deener Lawless, U. S. N. Parasites from a large number of animals connected with the spread of human diseases have been collected and preserved for further study in the United States, said Wendell Phillips, expedition leader.

Daily Bible Thought

If the glory of divine sonship does not illuminate your face and reflect inner beauty there is something very wrong. The glory of Jehova cannot be hidden.—Isa. 60:1: "Arise and shine; for thy light is come, and the glory of Jehova is risen upon thee."

Natural Curiosity

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, Dec. 14, 1938.

Forest service officials in Oregon were puzzled to know what to do with a herd of nearly 10,000 elk which were concealed in the Whitman forest and resisted attempts of hunters to bag them.

Members of the Wednesday Night Dance club met for dinner at Hotel Harding and later danced at Schwinger's hall when they met for their annual Christmas party.

Mrs. Frank Oesterle of the Radnor road was hostess for a meeting of the Never Fail club. Sixty-five members and guests, including families of the members, attended the Christmas party.

Powerful Alliance

By Mark Sullivan

WASHINGTON

IN Washington there is now being prepared the final draft of a pact for military collaboration which has come to be called, after some evolution, the North Atlantic Alliance. The countries whose representatives are conferring are the United States, Canada, Britain, France, the Netherlands and Belgium. Other countries of western Europe are in varying stages of readiness to join. Ultimately the North Atlantic Alliance is expected to embrace, with us and Canada, practically all the countries of western Europe. After the work of drafting the pact has been completed it will be submitted to the senate, early in the coming session of congress, for the ratification required for treaties.

• • •

IN THE EVOLUTION of the North Atlantic Alliance, as respects our part in it, there have already been some definite official steps. The beginning and basis was recognition that the nations of western Europe could hardly resist, separately, the aggression to which they were being subjected by Communist Russia. Out of this recognition grew an early pact for military co-operation by four western European nations—Britain, France, the Netherlands and Belgium. It was about this pact that President Truman, last March 17, made a formal declaration of policy. We had already committed ourselves to helping the nations of western Europe to achieve economic strength, by the Marshall plan. In the policy announced by President Truman, we understook to give military aid:

"This development deserves our full support. I am confident that the United States will, by appropriate means, extend to the free nations the support which the situation requires. I am sure that the determination of the free countries of Europe to protect themselves will be matched by an equal determination on our part to help them do so."

• • •

THIS DECLARATION of policy was carried forward, on June 17, 1948, by a senate resolution introduced by Republican Senator Vandenberg of Michigan who, as chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, was cooperating with the Truman administration on foreign policy. The senate resolution declared that "based on continuous effective self-help and mutual aid" by the countries of western Europe, we would give them military support.

The North Atlantic Alliance, while parallel to the Marshall plan for giving economic aid to western Europe, goes much farther. For the alliance is a formal pact, to be ratified by the senate, for details and continuous military cooperation, in effect military unity; while the Marshall plan is an emergency economic aid which contemplates coming to an end when the economic emergency is over. The objective of the alliance is expressed in two sentences from a formal statement by a Canadian official, Secretary of State St. Laurent:

"... an overwhelming preponderance of moral, economic and military force and the necessary unity for its effective use . . . an overwhelming preponderance of force over an adversary or possible combination of adversaries."

The North Atlantic Alliance arises directly and spontaneously out of the condition of our time. The early postwar aspiration was world unity, "one world." This aspiration Russia thwarted. Her actions made it plain that she would not cooperate in a world unity based on the assumption that Russian communism and western Democracy could live together, that her purpose was domination of the world by communism.

• • •

BY THIS ATTITUDE Russia has brought about a unity of democratic nations such as otherwise would hardly have arisen or even been attempted. The North Atlantic Alliance will be, if it comes to fruit, the strongest union of nations retaining their full sovereignty that has ever existed. It differs from the United Nations in the degree of its solidity and especially in the fact that it is based on ideals and traditions, about government and otherwise, held in common by the nations composing it. The United Nations is an over-all attempt to take in nations having every kind of ideal and tradition, some of them contradictory. The North Atlantic Alliance is the formalizing of an already existing and long-recognized community of ideals and interests. As one illustration, some approximation of unity between Canada and the United States has long been an aspiration. In the North Atlantic Alliance they are formally brought closer together than ever before.

Backward Glance

From The Dallas News

The dramatic flight of Mme. Chiang Kai-shek to plead aid in Washington for the crumbling forces of her husband strikes a fateful chord in the world's memory. Eighty-two years ago another lovely, if spoiled, high-born lady made an equally desperate journey. It was Empress Carlotta, rushing frantically from Mexico to France and thence to Rome who tried to save her beloved Maximilian.

Carlotta, it will be recalled, flung herself at the feet of Napoleon III, then hurried on to appeal to the Pope. Both were moved by her tragic plight, but neither could help her. Fortunately, history never offers exact parallels. Whatever happens next in China, the world hopes that no such personal disasters await the Generalissimo and his wife as befell the ill-starred Maximilian and Carlotta.

CROSSTOWN By Roland Coe

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

How Is Your "A" Pitch?

If it isn't one thing it's another. Now the United Nations is asked to call an international conference on the "A" pitch. This is not a southpaw baseball manager. The "A" pitch is the basis pitch in music, and Dr. Herman Zeisl, head of the Austrian delegation to the UN Cultural Organization, charges that almost no country is adhering to the uniform pitch as established in 1885 in Vienna.

• • •

Maybe it's the reverse of what's really wrong. Has man grown careless about his A and

• • •

Is that the simple it is in because of Soup Nuts?

• • •

Is it possible that the off-sound pour "A" pitch is trouble all over the earth?

• • •

Dr. Zeisl says that the Vienna conference set the standard "A" pitch at 435 cycles a second. Through the years it has been knocked around like everything else it appears. Here in America, for instance, 440 cycles is observed in the best circles. In the "Sweet Adeline" and "Since You Went Away" it swerves all over the lot, from as low as 422 up to 500 asked, we hear.

• • •

It is declared by Dr. Zeisl that the original tuning fork used to set the international "A" pitch and keep the world on key has been preserved in Vienna. He wants everything re-set by it. It is not as ridiculous as it sounds (no pun). Nobody has yet been able to put the finger on what is really disturbing the earth so much. It might very well be that trouble with the "A" pitch is it. Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast, the poet said, but the global music we have been getting hasn't been doing the job, obviously. Savage breast soothing has declined 76 per cent in the last 10 years, our statistician reports.

• • •

Who can estimate to what extent defective "A" pitch is responsible for all that has happened to us since the early thirties? Hitler was a musicker in a small provincial way. Maybe he was away off the Vienna standard of 435 cycles to begin with.

• • •

This department is for an international conference, but fast. The thing must be looked into. How does President Truman stand? Has America an "A" pitch policy? Are we in accord with England and France and Italy?

• • •

Is it possible Russia has sabotaged the "A" pitch and is there in a pumpkin shell somewhere some papers that will show this up?

• • •

When Vishinsky, Molotov and Stalin clear their throats and sing "Mi-mi-mi," are they anywhere near the same key as the rest of us? Let's get to the bottom of this. (Provided, of course, it doesn't cost too much. That's what we're afraid of.) We look for a proposal for an American I.A.P.P.C. (International A Pitch Preservation Commission) with unlimited funds. If we can help the world back to the Vienna "A" string standard by discussion, all very well, but, fair warning, no LOANS!

THEN AND NOW

Benedict Arnold in his grave
Coldly this opinion gave:
"They got me swiftly, face to face,
Without a pumpkin in the case!

• • •

"There was no long drawnout delay—
Treason was treason in my day;
I fled, but if I stayed I'll bet
The probers would be probing yet!"

We know a fellow who insists that during the New York bartenders strike a picket line was thrown around his dry martini.

• • •

Then there is the toper who says that the snakes he saw after a bender during the strike were carrying signs reading: "This Souse Unfair."

• • •

A general bartenders strike would, of course, be a major blow at television.

VANISHING AMERICANISMS

"Here's two dollars; get yourself something nice for Christmas."

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: I have been waiting for Christmas to happen to me and still no sign of any development in that direction. I'm getting worried. It never was this way other years. At the first sign of a Christmas tree I'd break out in Christmas spirit all over. I'd practically light up.

But this year I've seen a lot of Christmas trees, I've listened to Christmas on the radio. Christmas is in all the stores. When I go into town to buy chicken feed, or a new crystal for my watch, I see Christmas decorations all over the place. The advertisements implore me to get Christmasy. They sing it at me on public address systems and bombard me by mail. But nothing happens. Maybe I have not been taking enough vitamins.

I must have built up an immunity to Christmas. I have caught the spirit of it so often that I am no longer an easy victim. Eventually, I have no doubt it will get me, because it always has. Nevertheless, I'm concerned because I am holding out so long.

When you come right down to it, nephew, Christmas is a personal matter. In the past, I can recall that it has happened to me under some rather unusual circumstances—wake after dark under the stars, a smile or a word from someone I loved, perhaps something the minister said in church that happened to hit me with a wallop. I have caught it from the eyes of children, from stories I've read in newspapers and from my own recollections. It's a highly contagious thing. But I guess there's no more use trying to catch it than there would be in trying to make an attack of the tizzies. You either get it or you don't.

Neither is there any use in trying to talk about it to someone who never really had it. They can't understand what you're talking about. You don't have the proper background unless you've had an acute attack, the kind I had once when I was a little kid one year and everything had gone wrong at our house—sickness, no money, no anything. No one had even had time, I thought, to think about Christmas. But at the last minute, everything I'd hoped for came true, and our family had one of the most wonderful Christmases imaginable. I've been thinking about that particular Christmas tonight and wishing for something. I wish that on Christmas Eve this year the whole sick, bankrupt, distressed world could have a wonderful Christmas.

Maybe it will. Because as I said, Christmas is something that happens inside of people. It's a revival of faith, which is what it started out to be a good many centuries ago.

Perhaps that's why I'm having a little trouble seeing Christmas this year for the Christmas trees, hearing the Christmas bells for the canned music, feeling the Christmas spirit for the contradictions thereof. My faith has been abused. However, don't worry. You'll get your Christmas necktie all right. Regards to you and your family and tell your dear wife I'll be puckered up under the mistletoe when the time comes.

CIO COUNCIL PLANS THIRD ANNUAL SHOW

Event Set for Jan. 14 at Marion Armory.

Arrangements are underway for a three and one-half hour show to be presented Friday, Jan. 14, in the Marion Armory under the sponsorship of the Marion Industrial Union Council, CIO.

Acts for the show will be procured by the Western Variety Shows of Chicago, according to an announcement by Ellis Chipperfield, president of the organization. The acts will be the same as those put on at the entertainment at the AMVETS state convention held recently in Lima.

Grover Hubbard, president of the Steel Workers Local Union No. 1721, has been named chairman of the entertainment committee for the show. With the aid of a number of local manufacturers and business concerns, free tickets will be provided to children in Marion who otherwise would be unable to attend the show. These tickets will go to six groups, the juvenile court, Salvation Army welfare department, school patrol boys and the children's home to be distributed.

Two performances will be given, a matinee at 3 p. m. and in the evening at 8. Tickets are now available from members of the council.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

FAITH [illegible] herself [illegible] her feet [illegible] and began [illegible]

I [illegible] my best to entertain my guests, she said. "But after we [illegible] we'll [illegible] up."

"You'll help me," Dicky told her, swinging his feet to the floor and looking up mockingly at Katharine who had moved swiftly to the bedside.

That is, if she wishes permits me to move," he said.

If you're not careful of that arm," she threatened imperturbably. "I'll put you to bed for the duration. Give me your hand!"

Too bad it has been a marriage, he mocked, turning to the presence on the scene of Jack and Madge. "The world would be full of both your sons-in-law."

"We'd murder each other the first twenty-four hours," she told him with a gay laugh.

Then with her left arm for support he went back to the living room where she settled him in an easy chair with Faith cuddled close to him and Mary sitting in another easy chair, facing him.

"Can you ride herd on him, Mary?" Katharine asked. "There are some things I want to do."

Like [illegible] nobody's business, Dicky's winsome niece to be smiling at her uncle. If he wiggles a little finger out of turn I'll call you."

"See that you do," Katharine [illegible] Madge [illegible] across [illegible] "While I shall [illegible] go."

In the next room I told her promptly. "They're using it to keep an eye on the [illegible] boys! Suppose we go down the hall to the bedroom of the master of the house."

"The grand name she gives me," Davy said and I wrinkled my nose at him hoping that the gesture would convince him that he had eased my anxiety.

The boys escorted me gallantly down the hall to Dicky's room. They were trying to be very grown-up indeed. I told myself with a tender hidden smile but when they had put me into an easy chair and had drawn up two straight ones facing me their faces had the eagerness of puppies awaiting a delightful piece of meat.

First I said, I want to thank you for what you did in helping to keep Faith unsuspicious of your father's conference with Uncle Harry. I'm sorry Uncle Harry can't tell you his news himself but he and Aunt Lillian had to get back to their home, and attend to something for your grandfather."

Roderick gave me a shy smile as I said the last word, and I knew that, as always he is gratified by my insistence upon speaking of my father as his grandfather although there is no tie of kinship between Junior's orphaned nephew. It is only an item of our determined effort to make the boy feel as if he were, in truth, Junior's brother.

A sudden remembrance struck me. With Dicky incapacitated some time during what was left of the day, I must find a way to see the man upon whom my husband relied to find out what condition in the boys' school was responsible for Roderick's needing the large sum of money he had asked of Mary.

But I must let no hint of that reach the boys and I hurriedly banished the problem, as I pulled myself together to tell them the "hush hush" news.

"I'm going to lock this door," I said, rising. "No, don't get up. I'm coming right back and tell you every syllable that was uttered during the 'conference'."

Program Presented By WSCS at Epworth

A program was presented when the WSCS of Epworth Methodist church met Thursday afternoon in the church parlors. Mrs. J. W. Young opened the meeting with a religious reading and Mrs. Warren Wise directed the group in singing. "There's A Song in the Air." Mrs. Dale Lawrence, program chairman, presented Mrs. Rex Robinson who gave the legend of the candles, their significance in various countries and "Candle Light at Christmastime."

Mrs. Fred Ellery, Mrs. John H. Clark, Mrs. Warren Wise, Mrs. Frank Garfield, Mrs. Rex Robinson and Mrs. L. W. Firstenberger, took part in a processional singing carols, including "O Come Let Us Adore Him," "The First Noel," "O Little Town of Bethlehem," and other carols, with Mrs. Gladys Arter at the piano. Mrs. John Jones conducted the devotions and the group sang Christmas carols, directed by Mrs. Earl Houser. Mrs. Miriam Washburn read "No Room at the Inn," and members of the Girls guild in costumes of foreign countries sang Christmas carols of the countries and interpreted the observance of the holiday in stories. Mrs. Elizabeth Von Enot, a guest, Mrs. Martha Reardon and Mrs. Emma Felenlin sang "Oh Tannenbaum." Refreshments were served following the program in charge of Mrs. Arthur Perratt and Mrs. Vernon Street.

POLICE METHODS HIT IN COURT RULING

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON [illegible] the supreme court took a slant [illegible] and peeping through transoms to get evidence of wrong-doing.

Evidence secured in that manner cannot be used, the court ruled 6 to 3. The majority opinion was written by Justice Douglas who commented:

"Power is a heady thing and [illegible] shows that the police activities [illegible] cannot be trusted.

The case that brought up this issue came from here in Washington.

[illegible] police officers said [illegible] busy at their work. They arrested Earl H. McDonald and [illegible] P. Washington, who were [illegible] (A) keeping a place for wagering on horse races.

McDonald eventually was sentenced to six to 18 months and Washington to 60 days.

They appealed to the supreme court and today's decision threw out their sentences.

Your Good Health

Stubborn Condition To Cure.

There is a condition which, although not fatal, surely is bothersome and annoying And, incidentally, it is also one of the most irritating and difficult to treat disorders with which human beings are afflicted. In this condition there is itching around the lower opening of the bowel Its exact cause may be difficult to determine in many cases

Recently, the idea has been presented that it may be due in many instances to allergy or oversensitivity. The patient may be oversensitive to some food which he eats, to fungi or molds or bacteria, or he may also be sensitive to drugs or chemical substances with which he comes in contact.

Treatment for the itching has been based on the idea that it is due to allergy. A number of measures are used.

If the area around the opening of the bowel is inflamed, and severe itching, and the secretion of fluids are present, the application of an ice pack will give some relief. Compresses of a preparation known as Burow's solution are also used. If the inflammation of the skin is due to contact with material coming from the bowel, the skin area may be covered with zinc oxide ointment before the bowel movement

It is important that all clothing and bed linen be washed with non-irritating materials. Bleaching agents may often be a cause of allergic reactions

A number of patients with this condition were treated with pyribenzamine, one of the preparations known as an anti-histamine. These preparations aid in eliminating excessive histamine, which is formed in the body of those with allergies

Of 90 patients treated 57 had satisfactory results The preparation is given by mouth It seems to control the itching in the majority of patients so that scratching is eliminated Of course scratching only tends to make the condition worse because of the inflammation of the skin which it produces.

The pyribenzamine was also used in the form of an ointment which was applied to the affected area If the preparation is going to be effective, the itching should be controlled within 10 minutes after it is administered.

Other measures employed consisted of omission from the diet of anything sour, bitter or salty, all highly-seasoned foods, and all forms of alcohol

After the bowel movement, the skin area is wiped with wet cotton and the region covered with a fine layer of cotton. The patients were advised not to take tub baths.

SECTION FOREMAN DIES HERO'S DEATH

By The Associated Press

YOUNGSTOWN O Dec 14 Section foreman Michael Ruddy died a hero's death yesterday--crushed by a freight locomotive on the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie railroad tracks where he labored 25 years.

Ruddy 56 of Lowellville tried to push Pete Bavansky 60, of New Castle Pa out of the path of a fast westbound freight train near Lowellville five miles south of here Both men were killed

The accident occurred near quitting time for a crew repairing a stretch of P & L E track A freight train on an adjacent Baltimore and Ohio track muffled the approach of the speeding locomotive under which the men died and it was so close to Bavansky when he saw it that he became panicky

Oblivious to the cries from the hands who had leaped to safety, Bavansky ran along the track in front of the speeding engine Ruddy then dashed onto the tracks to push the laborer out of death's way but couldn't.

OHIO BEER BUSINESS OFF SHARPLY IN OCTOBER

By The United Press

COLUMBUS Dec 14 The bottom fell out of the beer business in Ohio during October and sales since then haven't been able to make up the difference

The sales and excise division of the state tax department reported today that nearly 40,000,000 fewer bottles of beer were sold in Ohio during the month of October than during October 1947 The state's income from cigaret taxes also was lower in October of this year than it was in October of last year the first decline noted this year

Until October beer sales in the state were running ahead of 1947 but the October drop of 124,387 barrels was so great that sales for the year are now running behind those of 1947.
